SHE GAVE HER HEART TO ME.

Cupid, one day, in idle quest,

Fitted a dainty dart

And aimed it at Priscilla's breast.

To strike Priscilla's heart.

Clean through it went; no heart was there.

Said Cupid, "I believe

Priscilla's just the girl to wear

Her heart upon her sleeve."

But there, slack, it was not found!

"Aha," cried Cupid, "mine

Her frightened air! Now, I'll be bound,

Her heart is in her throat!"

Failure again. On slender chance

He one more arrow shoots,

Asquing, from her downcast glance,

Her heart was in her boots.

Folled, Cupid threw aside his bow.

"She has no heart," said he.

(He did not know that long ago

She gave her heart to me).

—Pearson's Weekly.

LOST ELOQUENCE.

She was a queer little woman; there was a certain look about her countenance, barely five feet high, with a small face and a big forehead and wistful gray eyes that always seemed to be asking questions; such a contrast to her brother, the big, handsome archdeacon,

who gained all hearts with his charming manners and winning smile and won golden opinions from everybody by his eloquent sermons.

His sister lived with him, and people rather pitied him on that account. Miss

Merrifield was so shy, so difficult to get on with. She never had a word to say for herself and apparently had no ideas

beyond district visiting and needlework.

One of the greatest of the archdeacon's many admirers was the dean's daughter, Ella St. Clara. Ella was a beauty, and she knew it.

Moreover, she was an heiress, for her mother, who had died when Ella was quite a child, had left her a considerable fortune, which was to come into her sole possession as soon as she attained her majority.

She had enjoyed the command of this money for some three years now and had hitherto shown no inclination to share it with anybody else.

Artillery officers from the neighboring garrisons had come and gone and had laid themselves and their gorgeous uniforms at her feet in vain. Ella was nothing if not strictly ecclesiastical, although, of course, ordinary vicars and curates were as little eligible as artillery officers. Moreover, she worshipped intellect, and the average man is, generally speaking, hardly to be described by the term intellectual.

The hero of Ella's day dreams was one who would sway the hearts of thousands with his eloquence and gain a world wide reputation by reason of his brilliant and unusual talents.

It was unfortunate that she could not get on with Miss Merrifield. With youthful impetuosity Ella had decided after her very first interview with the archdeacon's sister that the latter was

"an impossible old person" whom it was not worth taking the trouble to know. Ella thoroughly understood the art of dressing well and could not understand or sympathize with poor Miss

Merrifield for never having acquired it.

The year after the Merrifields came to Roston the bishop lost his young wife under very sad circumstances.

They had just been married a short time, and she died of a rapid decline.

On the Sunday following the funeral

the archdeacon was announced to preach; and it was generally expected that he would make some allusions to the sad event. Nor were these expectations disappointed. The text was, "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort thee," and from this the archdeacon preached a sermon

which went straight to all hearts.

There were no fine phrases in it, no vague speculations on the glories of the hereafter, no quotations from the poets.

The words he spoke were very simple and direct and such as the poorest could understand, but their pathos and tenderness thrilled and touched those who listened till the whole congregation seemed to have but one heart,

throbbing with keenest sympathy.

As the archdeacon came out through the cloisters afterward on his way to his own house groups outside made way for him in reverent silence, and it was almost a shock to them to hear the same ringing, musical voice which had just thrilled them in the cathedral addressing Miss St. Clara with a request that she would come to tea with him and his sister the following afternoon.

Less than a fortnight afterward her engagement to the archdeacon was announced, a piece of news which gave unusual satisfaction, as it justified

everybody's expectations.

Poor little Miss Merrifield, who had seen what was going on from the very first and had shed many secret tears at the thought of parting from her idolized brother, schooled herself to receive the announcement with the requi-

THE SUPERVISORS AND THE CITY GUN CLUBS.

The city gun clubs, which have secured by long leases almost every available acre of the duck-shooting grounds between Sonoma and San Pablo Bay, now want the earth. Not content with barring out local sportsmen from the ponds and sloughs of their immense leased preserves they now ask the Board of Supervisors of this county to pass an ordinance to prevent "market hunters" from shooting ducks in season on the few acres that they have not succeeded in "gobbling up." These self-styled sportsmen set up the claim in order to secure the passage of the ordinance in question, that the "market hunter" slaughters ducks by the wholesale and want him suppressed for fear he will exterminate all the wild game in the county.

Now, right here we rise to remark that while the Supervisors are about it they ought to get in their work, if there is any suppressing to be done, on the members of these metropolitan gun clubs, who have invaded the county and do more in a single season to exterminate wild game than the "market hunters" could do in a life time. The cry set up by the members of these gun clubs against the "market hunter," who by the way is a myth in so far as this part of Sonoma county is concerned, is as senseless as it is selfish. "Market hunters," and for that matter any other old thing of a hunter, are few and far between in the Sonoma marshes, which literally swarm during the open season with the latter, who slaughter the ducks in a cold-blooded and unsportsman-like manner by the tens of thousands. The gun club members from the metropolis lure the unsuspecting ducks, of which the canvasback is the fool bird, to baited ponds with the aid of decoys and then "ground sluice" them to their heart's content. Only last week a member of one of these city gun clubs, which pretend to be horrified at the extermination of wild game, killed in a baited pond in the vicinity of Tubbs Island 150 canvasbacks in a single day's shoot, and after supplying his sisters, his cousins and his aunts with game he still had a few ducks left for the market stall.

Since the advent of these clubs in this valley ducks have become a luxury to the people of Sonoma and they can hardly be got for love or money. That terrible bug-a-boo, the "market hunter" is a thing of the past in this part of the county for the gentleman sportsman superseded and deprived him of his avocation long ago.

We submit, that if anybody is to be suppressed by the Supervisors let it be these non-resident gun club members, who are slowly but surely driving away and exterminating the wild game in the country and depriving the tax-paying sportsmen of Sonoma county of their favorite pastime, that of shooting the wild duck in the Sonoma marshes.

As an entering wedge let the Supervisors pass an ordinance, if it be legal, preventing the baiting of ponds and sloughs and compel the city nimbler to kill his ducks in a sportsmanlike manner. There will then be shooting for everybody and no fear of the duck being exterminated in the Sonoma marshes.

DURRANT, the convicted murderer of poor Blanche Lamont, did not hang yesterday after all. The sentence passed upon the miserable wretch by Judge Barbs, and which would have compelled Warden Hale to execute him in San Quentin prison on the forenoon of that day, was stayed by the Supreme Court on the ground that the Judge had passed sentence on Durrant without being officially notified that the United States Supreme Court had dismissed the condemned man's appeal. Of course the appeal has been dismissed by the highest judicial tribunal in the land, but pending the arrival of the papers in the case from Washington by mail the State Supreme Court Justices say there is no legal evidence of the dismissal until those papers arrive. The stay of execution will be in force until these papers are in the hands of Judge Barbs, when Durrant will again be brought before him for sentence. As to whether he will ever be hanged or not, in the language of Lord Dundreary, is "What no fellow can find out."

It is estimated by the officials of the Department of Agriculture that this country sends abroad annually in the neighborhood of four hundred million dollars for farm products. There is small doubt but that many of these articles could be produced in the United States if the American farmers had more definite information in regard to the cost of their production and methods of cultivation. Investigations looking to this information are what the Agricultural Department is engaged in at present, as it is the desire of Secretary Wilson that as much of this four hundred million as possible shall be kept at home. Mr. Wilson is proving the most practical and popular man who has ever been at the head of the Department of Agriculture. "Uncle Jerry" Rusk, the first Secretary of Agriculture, appointed by President Harrison, was a genuine farmer and an able Secretary, but much of the work of the Department was in an embryonic and experimental state. Under Secretary Morton much of the work remained at a standstill or retrograded—the beet-sugar industry, for instance. But Secretary Wilson has taken hold of the work with a will and has instituted more investigations and experiments in behalf of the farmer of the United States than were ever thought of heretofore, and they are bearing fruit, too. It is predicted by the friends of the Agricultural Department that that branch of the Government will, in the near future, be one of the most important and influential in the cabinet.

COUNTY GLEANINGS.

Patrick Murphy, a native of Ireland, aged 70 years, died of consumption at the County Hospital Wednesday.

J. B. Reid, charged with arson in setting fire to his dwelling in Santa Rosa, was acquitted in the Superior Court Saturday.

Evaporated apples have advanced during the past week. Until a few days ago growers got 51 cents a pound. They are now receiving 61 cents per pound and the supply is not equal to the demand.

Antonio Lopez, a well-known farmer of Penn's Grove, dropped dead while boarding the railway train at that place on Sunday morning. An inquest developed the fact that the cause of his death was heart disease.

On Tuesday a San Francisco jury in a damage suit brought by a Mrs. Depew against the San Francisco & North Pacific Railroad, gave her a verdict for $1200. Mrs. Depew sued the railroad for $15,000 for injuries sustained by her falling off a train at Millbrae. It is said the railroad company offered Mrs. Depew $1000 before the case went into court.

The Trustees of the Home for Feeble Minded at Eldridge held a meeting at San Francisco Monday for the purpose of receiving bids for the former site of the institution at Santa Clara. There were present at the meeting Trustees A. P. Overton, Colonel John T. Harrington, Thomas P. Woodward, R. R. Reibenstein and Secretary W. P. Edwards. It was a brief meeting, the only business coming before the Board being the sale of the Santa Clara property, which embraces fifty-two acres of land. The highest bid was that of C. M. Yates, who offered $8,200 for the land, and it was knocked down to him at that figure, subject to the approval of the Governor.

At Santa Rosa, says the Republican, some two months ago a baby girl was abandoned by unknown parties. The baby was stowed away in a small wooden box and had been left some time during the night. Mrs. J. Gaudin took the baby in and cared for it. The Gaudins said at the time that they were unable to keep it and the matter was referred to the authorities. Soon after it was announced that the little waif had found a permanent home with a Santa Rosa lady. The plan fell through for some reason or other and the child has been cared for by Mrs. Gaudin. Friday Mr. Gaudin reported to the Supervisors that he and Mrs. Gaudin were unable to keep the child any longer, and asked that the county take charge of it. The baby is about four months old, and is bright and pretty. A determined effort will be made to find it a comfortable home.

A Piece of Parchment

When unwritten on, is not more colorless than the cadaverous countenance of those unfortunate persons whom we are accustomed to call "confirmed invalids." What a misnomer! implying, too, despair, a giving up for lost! As long as the vivifying power of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters can be felt, and that is possible as long as there is no absolute collapse of the faculties, fresh vitality can be infused into wasted, feeble frames; color and flesh can be brought back to wasted, pallid cheeks with this grand, sheet anchor of the debilitated and the sickly. It is a tonic of the greatest potency and the utmost purity, and a remedy for and preventative of dyspepsia, biliousness, malaria, rheumatism, nervous and kidney complaints. Appetite and sleep are greatly aided by it; it counteracts the effects of undue fatigue, or excitement, and nullifies the often pernicious consequences of exposure to inclement weather or damp clothing.

The income of a teacher in a private school of China is very small, about a half penny a day for each pupil.

Scrofula Swelling

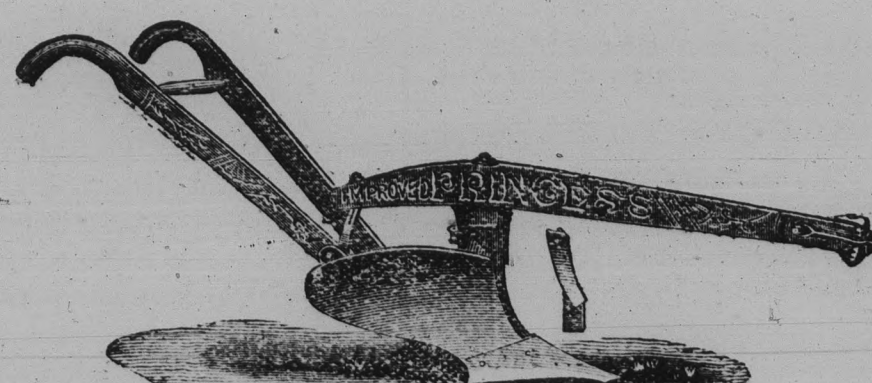

On the Neck and Great Weakness Caused by Impure Blood—Was Constantly Growing Worse.

"When my son was 5 years old he was in very poor health and we could get nothing to relieve him. At the age of 7 years he began to complain of soreness on both sides of his neck and soon lumps began to gather on one side and grew to half the size of an egg. We then became more uneasy and began to doctor him for scrofula. He gradually grew worse, however, until at the age of twelve years we had lost all hope of his recovery. He became so weak he could sit up but a few minutes at a time. My wife saw Hood's Sarsaparilla recommended as a great blood purifier and we sent and got a bottle. We began giving our boy the medicine according to directions and it was not long before we saw he was improving. He continued taking it until he was in very good health. He is now 13 years old and is well. We recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for all troubles caused by impure blood." S. M. SILVER, Grouse, Oregon.

At a meeting of the Sonoma Volunteer Fire Company, held on Wednesday evening, it was decided to give a grand rag masquerade ball. A committee to make all the necessary arrangements was appointed by President Cheney as follows: Henry Bates, A. E. Leech and J. E. Poppe. The ball will be given in Union Hall and excellent music will be engaged for the occasion. These annual masquerades of the firemen of Sonoma are always liberally patronized by our citizens. On these occasions, in order to encourage the firemen, the party-going people of town and valley attend the firemen's ball. This is as it should be. The firemen of Sonoma, when the alarm bell calls them up for duty do not go into executive session to decide whether the owner of the house on fire belongs to this set or that set. Everything goes and the fire is combated. Society has nothing to do with protecting the lives and property of our citizens from the fire fiend. Therefore we say, let all stand in with the firemen in this their tenth annual masquerade and make the ball a grand success.

Runaway.

A horse attached to a light buggy, belonging to Louis Breitenbach, which had been left standing on Schocken's corner, ran away last Wednesday evening and for ten or fifteen minutes created quite a commotion all over town. The animal ran down Spain street, thence down Second-street East to Napa street. Upon reaching the latter street he got an additional "move on" and ran down that thoroughfare to Harris' stables. Here he turned into First-street West and after running two blocks turned into Broadway and from thence took a tour into the country surrounding the town. The nag would evidently have been running yet had not Geo. McGill secured him near the W. F. Wade place. Aside from a picket fence or two being demolished remarkable to relate no other damage was done, although several parties had narrow escapes from being run down by the festive steed in his mad career.

A Petty Thief.

One day last week a farmer residing near this place placed a bale of hay in his pasture enclosure for the use of one of his plow horses, which was running in the field. The next morning the bale of hay was missing, having been stolen some time during the night by a petty thief, who broke the fence down in order to get the hay out of the field and into his wagon. A man who would rob a dumb beast of its fodder is mean enough to do anything. Why, he would steal the pennies off a dead "nigger's" eyes.

FOOTS AND COZINE.

APPEAR BEFORE THE SUPERIOR COURT—PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

Arson and Burglary Cases Set for December 8th and 15th.

Louis Fouts and George Cozine, who were indicted for arson and burglary by the Grand Jury last week, were arraigned before the Superior Court in Santa Rosa on Monday.

Defendants entered pleas of not guilty, after which Judge Daingerfield of San Francisco, who is sitting for Judge Dougherty, set the arson cases for trial on December 8th and the burglary cases for December 15th.

L. W. Hitchcock was appointed by the Court to defend the accused. Fouts and Cozine, who were born and raised in this valley, are charged with setting fire to R. B. Thomas' barn and forcing an entrance into Schocken's wine cellar.

Drawbridge at Sears' Point.

The Hiram Tubbs estate has petitioned the Board of Supervisors to allow the estate to build a drawbridge across Midshipman's slough, opposite Sears' Point station on the line of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway. The bridge is to connect the Point with Tubbs' Island, which comprises several thousand acres of land under cultivation, and will be four hundred feet long. The draw lift is to be thirty feet in the clear. For years the owners have been using an ancient flat-bottomed ferry boat for crossing the slough with produce, horses and cattle. As the slough is seldom navigated by sailing craft the prayer of the petitioners will no doubt be granted.

Leg Broken.

Jack Kerns, employed on the Spreckels ranch, had his left leg fractured below the knee in three places on Wednesday afternoon. He was engaged in repairing a bridge on the place and by some means or another a falling timber struck him with the above result. He was brought into town for surgical treatment and Dr. Davis set the broken limb. The injured man will be laid up several months before he will be able to return to work.

Thanksgiving Services.

The union Thanksgiving service will be held in the M. E. Church on Thanksgiving Day, November 25th, at 11 A. M. Rev. C. E. Chase will officiate. The proclamation issued by President McKinley calls upon all "to remember God's goodness to us during the past year, which has been so abundant," and "to offer to him our thanksgiving and pay our vows unto the Most High." So let us as a people join in a service and truly give thanks unto God. This means the service is for all and no one in particular.

Water Supply for the Spreckels Ranch.

Thirty-five men are at work on the Spreckels ranch constructing a large reservoir in the mountains near the western boundary line of the place. The reservoir when completed will be used for supplying the farm with water for domestic and irrigation purposes. The work is being superintended by Manager Blumens, who has secured the services of surveyor Press Davis to assist him.

Fined $100.

Wednesday Mrs. J. H. Cole, says the Petaluma Courier, who runs a saloon near Fisherman's Bay, and who was arrested last week upon complaint on oath of William Stout, charged with having permitted his niece, Ida May Carlton, to play cards in her saloon, plead guilty at Santa Rosa. His honor sentenced Mrs. Cole to pay a fine of $100, which she did. Mrs. Cole admitted in court that she and Miss Ida May sat up until 4 o'clock in the morning of the date in question and played a game of cards. Mrs. Cole is well-known in Santa Rosa. She told the Judge that her place of business was well conducted, and that no improper language was used at the time. Mrs. Cole had no idea, she said, of having any harm done to the girl's character.

W. W. Miller, editor of the California Illustrated World, who was recently convicted at San Jose of criminal libel, was sentenced to serve one year in the County Jail.

Sporting Notes.

G. A. Goess killed forty canvas back duck in the vicinity of Tubbs' Island on Sunday last.

R. J. Corbet, accompanied by Billy Meyers, has been taking in the duck-shooting grounds of the upper Sacramento River in his yacht "Belle" the past two weeks.

Peter Hein, the genial drawbridge tender of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway Company, entertained a number of city friends the past week, among them being Richard Hunter, who came up to bag a few ducks.

The Senator Jones leveed lands bordering on the First and Second Napa and Sonoma Creeks have been leased to the Alameda Gun Club for $300 per year. The leasing of this tract, which comprise thousands of acres of marsh lands, virtually gives the city nimrods a monopoly of the duck shooting grounds in this vicinity.

On Saturday the Board of Supervisors discussed a petition signed by a prominent member of each of the following clubs: Empire Gun Club, W. F. Andrus; Lincoln Gun Club, Edgar L. Foster; Midwinter Fair Gun Club, W. H. Williams; Sons of Rest Club, Henry J. Smith; Alameda Gun Club, E. H. Knowles; Olympic Gun Club, Merton C. Allen. The petitioners say that for several years past they have been accustomed to hunt in Sonoma county. They say they have appreciated the natural advantages offered by Sonoma county for recreation and sport, and that they have erected a number of cabins all along from Black Point to Schellville for the purpose of coming to the country at various times during the sporting season for hunting. They also say that during last winter the market hunter, by his wholesale onslaught, materially diminished, if not altogether destroyed, the incentive for them to continue their visits to the county. The sportsmen say they fear that unless something is done to restrain the market hunter this winter, he will drive off and totally exterminate the wild game from the county, and thus destroy one of its many attractive features.

The petition states that many Boards of Supervisors have provided for the repression of the market hunter and the preservation of the wild game, and they ask our Supervisors to do the same. The Board will probably take action in the matter at the December meeting by passing an ordinance.

On Monday or Tuesday next the doctor will operate on Mrs. Howe and remove a cancerous growth which is threatening her life. He has every reason to believe that the operation will be successful and that Mrs. Howe will eventually be restored to perfect health.

She taught her class Friday as usual and left that night for her home in Lakeville. She wrote to another teacher to take her place Monday, as she would be absent. That night the school board met and among the communications received was the resignation of Miss Sherman. She signed her name "Alice Sherman Messersmith," having been married. She can claim the credit of being one woman who can keep a secret as nobody in Petaluma knew a thing of her matrimonial plans.

The efforts of the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal Church at the fete of flowers and music given at the pretty home of Captain and Mrs. P. N. Stofen on Third street, Tuesday evening, were crowned with the greatest success, says the Santa Rosa Press Democrat. Gorgeous varicolored chrysanthemums found resting places in every nook and corner of the handsome reception rooms. Mammoth bouquets of the beautiful blooms were arranged everywhere so as to show off to the best advantage. The most charming taste was displayed in the floral decorations by Mrs. Stofen and her daughter, Miss Meta. In the brilliantly lighted rooms a very large crowd of guests gathered to enjoy the rare feast of music and flowers prepared. The musical and literary programme was such as could possibly leave nothing to be desired. The numbers were all exceedingly well rendered.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address, F. J.
